CoastMate: how a shore contact opts in to text messages

What the service is

CoastMate is a recreational boating app with tools for use on the water. Before a trip, the boater files a float plan and names a shore contact, a person they choose. If the trip is not ended by the expected return time, CoastMate texts that shore contact. No marketing or promotional texts are sent.

The opt-in flow (double opt-in by text reply). Example below uses sample names.

1. The boater adds the contact in the app. The boater types the contact's name and mobile number on the shore contact screen, and confirms they have the contact's permission. No text is sent yet.

2. CoastMate sends one confirmation text to that number from (855) 745-3635:

> CoastMate: Dana Reyes added you as a shore contact for their boat trips. Reply YES to get alerts if they are late returning, and an all-clear if they then end the trip. Msg & data rates may apply. Reply STOP to opt out, HELP for help.

3. The contact opts in by replying YES. Only a YES (or Y) reply turns alerts on. No reply means no further texts.

> YES

> CoastMate: Thanks. You will get alerts for Dana Reyes's trips. Msg & data rates may apply. Reply STOP to opt out, HELP for help.

4. If the trip runs overdue, a contact who replied YES gets alert texts (up to four, about 30 minutes, 1 hour, 2 hours and 4 hours late), and one all-clear if the trip then ends:

> CoastMate: Dana Reyes has not ended their trip on Sea Breeze. Expected return was 4:30 PM. Live position and battery: coastmate.ai/t/ab12cd. Reply STOP to opt out, HELP for help.

> CoastMate: Dana Reyes ended their trip on Sea Breeze at 5:42 PM. Reply STOP to opt out, HELP for help.
